(A) The Council recognizes public safety as a top priority.

(D) National studies funded by the Department of Homeland Security and conducted by the National Institute of Standards and Technology and Worcester Polytechnic Institute studied the effect of crew size on performance at residential fires, high rise fires, and emergency medical incidents, and have validated the results of the 1993 Austin Fire Department Staffing Study.

(E) The City of Austin began working toward four-person staffing in the early 1990s and achieved constant four-person staffing shortly after receiving a SAFER Grant in 2012.

(F) The National Fire Protection Association’s NFPA 1710 Standard requires a minimum of four firefighters per each firefighting apparatus.

(H) The Austin Fire Department’s current policies and practices require constant staffing of four firefighters on all front-line emergency response apparatus.
(I) Critical emergency response calls require at least four-person firefighter staffing on each apparatus to safely and efficiently mitigate the hazards encountered by firefighters.
